

Hi:

Welcome to CS301, Fluency with Information Technology. If you haven't checked in with me already letting me know that you exist via email, please do so now.

The course web site is:

<http://pheatt.emporia.edu/courses/2009/cs301sum09/cs301.htm>

We will not be using BlackBoard for this course. All course materials, assignments and resources are available on the course web site.

A course overview and logistical details are available at:

What this course is about and how it all works.

<http://pheatt.emporia.edu/courses/2009/cs301sum09/about/index.htm>

The first thing you should be is make sure that you have access to:

1. The homework submission system
2. Your account on the UNIX computer.

Details are in the about document noted above.

Assignments for the course include:

16 homework assignments

15 machine problems (things that you do with a computer)

A midterm

A final

At this time all the homework assignments and some of the machine problems are available on the site. The remainder of the machine problems should be available the week of 6/1/09.

The course runs from 6/8/09 to 7/31/09.

If you have any questions please let me know.

Chuck Pheatt
